1 What do we stand for...

Turangawaewae

Turangawaewae, meaning "standing place" in Te Reo Māori, refers to a sense of belonging and foundation within a community. It's where you feel empowered, rooted, and connected. In a community context, turangawaewae can be fostered through shared experiences, cultural understanding, and creating spaces for everyone to have a voice.

Natural Environment

A healthy environment is a healthy community. We want to work with our community to protect our green spaces, clean water, and native wildlife. By respecting nature, we create a vibrant place for people and wildlife to thrive

Open to Possibility

We are a Trust that embraces new ideas and explores the horizon together with our community. Together, we unlock potential and turn possibilities into realities. Here, all voices are heard, and all dreams are welcome.

Identity & History

A community's identity is a tapestry woven from its shared history. It's the triumphs and struggles, traditions and stories passed down, that shape who they are. This identity binds us together, offering a sense of belonging and grounding in the present.

Sense of Belonging

Familiar faces, friendly connections: Knowing people in our community creates a sense of belonging and makes it a warmer, more welcoming place.

Kotahitanga

Kotahitanga, meaning unity in Te Reo Māori, is a powerful concept in fostering strong communities. It emphasizes working together, like one whānau (extended family), to achieve shared goals. This involves supporting each other, collaborating on solutions, and working towards the collective good. By embracing kotahitanga, communities can create a more inclusive and resilient environment for everyone

A place to

Tūrangawaewae, our "standing place" in Te Reo Māori, represents our deep sense of belonging and connection within our community. It's where we feel empowered, rooted, and supported. We nurture this tūrangawaewae by sharing experiences, embracing cultural understanding, and creating spaces where everyone's voice is heard.

Our identity is woven from the threads of our shared history. Triumphs and struggles, traditions and stories passed down, all shape who we are. They bind us together, offering a sense of belonging and grounding in the present.

We are a community that embraces new ideas and explores the horizon together. We unlock potential and turn possibilities into realities, where all voices are heard, and all dreams are welcome.

BUILDING A BRIGHTER FUTURE ON THE FOUNDATIONS OF OUR COMMUNITY

Kotahitanga, meaning unity, is the cornerstone of a strong community. We strive to work together, like one whānau (extended family), towards shared goals. This involves supporting each other, collaborating on solutions, and working for the collective good. By embracing Kotahitanga, we build a more inclusive and resilient community for everyone.

Our environment is a taonga (treasure). It is the foundation for a healthy community. We work together to protect our green spaces, clean water, and native wildlife. By respecting and protecting nature, we create a vibrant place where people and wildlife can thrive for generations to come.

A place to connect

Being Proactive

Being proactive in your community means taking initiative to make it a better place. It's about looking ahead, anticipating needs, and solving problems before they arise. Instead of just reacting to issues, you're going out and making positive change happen

Inform

Engaging with our community and keeping them informed is essential. We strive to use a variety of communication channels to reach all residents with important updates and news.

Enable

Thriving communities empower their groups and people. This means creating spaces for them to connect, share ideas, and take ownership of their experiences. By fostering participation and removing barriers, we unlock the collective potential that drives positive change.

Accountability

A strong community thrives on accountability. We all have a role to play in ensuring everyone feels supported and that our shared goals are being met. This means holding each other accountable and working together to make sure we're on the right track, not just checking boxes.

2 What do we do?

Connect

Bridging the gaps: We connect groups and people, fostering a strong and vibrant community.

Advocating

Advocating in a community is about being a voice for positive change. It's using your passion to identify and address issues that matter to your neighbors. By speaking up and working together, we can create a stronger, more responsive community for everyone.

Facilitating

Facilitating community projects is about empowering people to work together. It's about guiding discussions, fostering collaboration, and ensuring everyone's voice is heard to bring a project from idea to reality for the benefit of the community.

We want to anticipate our community's needs, connect our people, and empower them to thrive. This is what proactive community engagement looks like. Through clear and accessible communication, we ensure everyone is informed and feels included.

We create spaces for residents to connect, share ideas, and take ownership of their experiences. By removing barriers and fostering participation, we unlock the power of collective action. We hold each other accountable: We all play a role in building a strong community. We work together, ensuring we're on the right track to make positive change, not just going through the motions.

BUILDING A BETTER TOMORROW, TOGETHER

We advocate for change: Passionate residents become a force for good, identifying and addressing issues that matter. By speaking up together, we create a more responsive and inclusive community.

We guide discussions, foster collaboration, and empower residents to turn ideas into reality, building a better tomorrow for everyone.
